Canada's Base Ordnance Workshop

(By C. J. Allbon, Jr.)
When our party was told we were to spend a half a day with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps we rather resigned ourselves to the ordeal, for we did not look forward to finding anything very exciting or even interesting in such a visit. In this we were very badly mistaken, as events proved. For me it was one of the most interesting and instructive parts of our tour.
It was while we were inspecting the various branches of the workshop that some of us (in our own minds) set the date for the invasion of Europe. But events have proved to me that I was some two weeks out on my reckoning. What had the workshop to do with the invasion plans? Well, they were busy sealing the various parts of the mechanized equipment which would be exposed to sea water so that the equipment could practically travel under water for short distances. In fact I recall Howard Marshall, a BBC reporter, on the second day of the invasion, telling how his large ship was blown up by striking a mine and how some of the mechanized equipment they were carrying was making its way ashore in five or six feet of water.

Set Up Canadian Workshop
When the Canadians landed in England it was intended that the British Government should be responsible for the repairing of Canadian vehicles. Early in 1940, however, this arrangement proved very unsatisfactory and even with the aid of the civilian shops there was little relief, and Brigadier MacQueen, D.M.G., immediately proceeded to get authority to mobilize a workshop capable of handling the repairs to all Canadian Army equipment.
No. 1 Canadian Base Ordnance Workshop was mobilized in Canada and arrived in the United Kingdom complete on March 24, 1942. Meanwhile ground had been broken in the United Kingdom on December 16, 1941, and by the 6th of July, 1942, workshops covering an area of 75,547 sq. ft., and employing approximately 1500 personnel, had been erected, machinery installed, and the workshops ready for operation. The original shops consisted of a machine shop of 47,403 sq. ft. and an "A" vehicle shop and "B" vehicle shop, each of 63,072 sq. ft.

The Load Increases
With the expanding of the Canadian Army in the United Kingdom it was necessary to expand the shops until the area covered was 285,712 sq. ft. and the personnel over 2,000. In 1943, 4,000,000 man hours were expended in a variety of work varying from the complete overhaul of the heaviest tanks to the repair of the finest precision watches. In 1943 200,000 items were repaired, including 5500 vehicles, more than 1,000 tanks, 2,800 motorcycles and 6,100 engines, 8,361 instruments, 11,144 telecommunication equipments and 69,912 electrical components for vehicles.

The Assembly Unit
Connected with the Ordnance Workshop is No. 1 Canadian Equipment Assembly Unit. This unit was organized when difficulties were experienced in assembling equipment. It was pointed out that in September 1943, there were approximately 17,000 Canadian vehicles in crates awaiting assembly. By February, 1944,

JOE CITIZEN SAYS
I guess we folks fight here don't know what war is really like although for every life in battle lost folks left behind must pay the cost. It's sad for all the little tads now growing up without their dads. And who can tell what tragic thoughts haunt wounded soldiers in their cots? But what I mean to say is this—There's quite a lot of war we miss, like hunger, bombs and refugees, and black-outs and such things as these.
There isn't a more favored land than this the one where now we stand. So lucky folks like me—and you!—should need no coaxing ballyhoo to dig up every cent we own and help put over this new loan. An easy way you must admit for such as us to do our bit!

Mr. H. P. Jackson Passes to Reward

As noted briefly last week, Mr. Harry Palmer Jackson, passed away at the hospital a few hours after admission on Sunday, August 13, at the age of 73 years. Heart trouble was the cause of death.
The late Mr. Jackson, who was born in Montpelier, Vermont, U.S., came to Canada when only eight years old, and resided with his parents at North Hatley, Que., for many years. He was married at Magog, Que., in 1894, and came west with his wife in 1913 settling in the Green-shields district where he has farmed for the past 31 years. His wife predeceased him on April 14th, 1943.

He had been under the doctor's care for the past five years but was always bright and cheerful, and made friends with all whom he came in contact.
He leaves to mourn, one son (Douglas) at present stationed at the west coast with the R.C.A.F., and one sister, Mrs. Rita Gillett, of Ohio, U.S.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon last, service being conducted in the United Church by Mr. Morgan (in the absence of Rev. Richard, the pastor). Interment was in the family plot in Wainwright cemetery. A large congregation paid their last respects, floral offerings being from: Alice & Douglas, Ed. Verlie & Family, and John, Mrs. Morrison, Lexie & Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. G. Reid & Family, Mr. and Mrs. R. Carl & Family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Haywood & Family, Mr. and Mrs. Bowerman & Besse, Mr. and Mrs. P. Spady, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis & Alton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Plaxton & Family, Bert and Christiana & Family, Mrs. Mills, Owen & Hugh, The Valleeau Families, Algot Carlson, Hans & Mrs. Pfleger, Mrs. E. Jackson & Family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lindberg, Mrs. J. Chynoweth & Family, Mr. and Mrs. Perkins & Family, Mr. and Mrs. Attwell & Family, Roy & Muriel, Mr. and Mrs. White & Family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Daniels & Billie, Alex., Echo & Marcelle, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson & Family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stranahan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Symes, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. L. Carl, Mary & Rufus, Dorothy, Charlie & Family.

Where They Came From
As we inspected the shops we stopped for a moment to have a word with the boys here and there. We found they came from all parts of the Dominion. The first lad was Pte. J. N. Wallace of Tweed, Ont., then there was Pte. S. Runge of Odessa, Sask., Pte. M. B. Ames of Newcastle, N.B., Pte. J. Domstad of Estevan, Sask. (Domstad had been a florist in peace time and now he was assembling an airplane engine), E. J. Russell, Edmonton, N.B., Morley Weatherbee of Springhill, Sgt. C. E. Synder, Regina, Cpl. G. Bilton, Winnipeg, Sgt. D. J. MacDonald, Kingston, Ont., Pte. Dick Lang, Vancouver, Pte. J. G. Lake, Trail, B.C.

Proud Of The Job Done
Canada may well be proud of this branch of her service. True it has cost us many millions of dollars for every piece of equipment is of the latest type and every piece power driven. Few people realize the extent of the work carried out by Ordnance for the workshop is only one of its many interests, but in Brigadier MacQueen we evidently have a man well qualified for this huge task—and he is doing his job well. As we neared the end of our inspection our only regret was that the time allocated did not permit us to make more complete tour.

To Renew Demands For Lower Licenses

Renewal of efforts of the Alberta Motor Association to secure lower car licenses in Alberta will be undertaken at once, states R. A. Godson, president of the organization.
Now that the provincial election campaign is over, the A.M.A., which is a non-partisan body, will step up its drive to effect a cut in license fees. The licenses in Alberta are higher than in any other part of the dominion. "Nothing will be left undone in the coming months to bring about a general reduction if possible," said the A.M.A. president.

In view of the probability of a special session of the new legislature in the fall, the demands that the levies on motorists be eased will be intensified.
The A.M.A. also is pressing for early consideration of a long range post-war highway program. It is felt that planning for this objective should be commenced now, and a comprehensive program outlined to meet the needs of the situation.

Following a visit with her son (Doug) and family in Calgary, Mrs. H. C. Wallace returned home on Saturday last.
Mrs. Bamer of Hardisty, has returned home, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bamer.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish sincerely to thank our friends for their kind expressions of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings in our recent bereavement in the loss of our dear father, Harry P. Jackson.

Wainwright Honored By Military Visit

During nearly the whole of last week, the Wainwright training camp was the rendezvous of no less than eight foreign military attaches from Ottawa, accompanied by newspaper correspondents, official photographers, etc., the party flying west from Ottawa, and being under the conduct of Maj. A. LeBlanc, of national defence headquarters. While here they witnessed some large-scale army manoeuvres.

At a headquarters mess dinner which was staged to entertain the distinguished visitors on Tuesday evening His Honor Lieut.-Governor Bowen was among the guests, as well as Maj.-Gen. G. R. Paske, V.C., C.B., D.S.O., M.C. Maj.-Gen. R. Alexander, D.S.O., Maj.-Gen. H. Ganong, C.B.E., Maj.-Gen. W. Griesbach, C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., V.D., and Brig.-Gen. D. V. Gaffney, commanding general of the Alaska Wing, Air Transport Command, U.S. Army Air Forces.

The military attaches who flew from the east to Edmonton, making the trip from there to Wainwright by staff car, were Maj.-Gen. Birger Ljunberg and Lieut. Egil Langland, of Norway; Lt.-Col. P. S. Motinov and Major A. Romanov, of U.S.S.R.; Major De Macmahon and Lieut. D. M. DeFosse, of France; Lt.-Col. Jan Ambros and Staff Capt. Ludevit Sozansky, of Czechoslovakia; these being conducted by Major A. LeBlanc of National Defense Headquarters staff.

All are experienced in combat in the present war.
Training schemes witnessed by the attaches included field and anti-aircraft artillery shoots; engineering demonstrations featuring modern demolitions and mine detection; infantry attack on a pill box with live ammunition; battle inoculation; camouflage in the field and a full brigade exercise.

Lt. Col. Motinov said: "Your infantry training is as good as any we have ever seen."
All of the visitors expressed their pleasure and interest in their visit to the big camp, and returned to the East by plane on Friday afternoon.

Soldier Harvesters Now Available

Arrangements for obtaining soldiers for harvest from the local military camp are well in hand reports T. W. Townley-Smith, District Agriculturalist for this area.

All men available for extended harvest leave have already been released and the help that will be forth coming will be provided by men on 48 or 96 hour leaves who have volunteered to aid with the harvest of the crop. Most of these leaves cover the last days of the week. To make the most of this help farmers are particularly urged to make known their needs to local labor contact men, (see adv. elsewhere in this issue). Early applications will be given first consideration. Only those applications placed with local labor contact men by Wednesday can be sure of consideration for that week end.

In view of the excellent cooperation on the part of the officers in charge of the various units at the local camp it would be very much appreciated if farmers would deal through their labor contact men and refrain from going out to the camp to try and obtain men. This last procedure takes up a lot of valuable time and makes it more difficult for all concerned.

Mr. Bert. Craig Dies At Ripe Age

There passed away at his farm home in the Pasmchendale district, on Friday last, Mr. Bernard (Bert.) Craig, sr., at the ripe age of 73 years. The cause of death was heart trouble from which he has suffered for the past three years.

The late Mr. Craig, who was born in Peterboro County, Ontario, later moved to the States, and in 1919 returned to Canada and settled on the land he has farmed ever since.

Left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father are his wife, four sons (Joe, Bernard, Harold and Albert—the first and last of these are with the armed services overseas), and two daughters (Mrs. Marie Haddock and Mrs. H. Strauss all living in this district.) to whom the sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended.

THE FUNERAL
Was held at the Blessed Sacrament (R.C.) church on Monday morning, when the Rev. Father E. DeBusschere conducted the requiem mass before a full congregation.

Bank of Montreal Crop Report No. 10

In the Prairie Provinces harvesting is now general in the southern and central districts and is commencing in some of the northern areas. Recent rains have delayed operations, but have benefited crops not fully matured. Conditions are generally favourable excepting in the southern and Peace River districts of Alberta and the southwestern and west-central districts of Saskatchewan, where yields will be light due to lack of adequate early precipitation. The chief requirement now is warm, dry weather. There have been further scattered hail losses, and strong winds have caused some damage. Sawfly infestation is heavy in the southern areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The honey crop outlook is generally satisfactory.

In Alberta heavy crop now appears assured in the northern and most of the central areas. Cutting has commenced, but wheat harvesting will not be general for about two weeks. Yields will be light in the Peace River and southern districts. Sawflies are damaging crops in the south. The honey crop outlook is good in the north and fair in the south.

Saskatchewan harvesting is now general in many of the southern and central sections and elsewhere crops are progressing rapidly towards maturity. Recent rains have benefited late-sown crops and prospects are generally favourable excepting in the southwestern and west-central districts, where yields will be light, due to hail have caused scattered damage. Heavy sawfly infestation is reported in southern areas.

Manitoba harvesting is general in the southern and central districts and has commenced in the northern districts. Rain is delaying operations in some sections and dry weather is now the chief requirement. Strong winds, flooding and hail have caused some damage, but on the whole losses to date are slight. Honey crop prospects are good.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Bert Craig and Family wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their sympathies and floral and spiritual offerings in the loss of a beloved husband and father—Mr. Bernard Craig, sr.

Royal Canadian Air Force North West Air Command

Edmonton—From the R.C.A.F. Flying Control Airways Centre housed in the sleek gray administration building of Edmonton's airport, a small staff of officers, airmen and airwomen of the R.C.A.F.'s North West Air Command direct the 200-m.p.h. traffic of the business air line in Canada—the North West Staging Route.

With one glance at his flight progress board, the duty controller at the centre can tell immediately the location of every aircraft—civil or military, Canadian or American—flying over any part of the route at any time of the day or night. Fighters on their way to Russia, heavy transports hauling freight to Whitehorse and beyond, Trans-Canada airlines bringing passengers north from Calgary or Canadian Pacific airlines whistling—priority-armed business men into the Yukon all look alike on the board: They are all just another aeroplane using the airways and requiring the service of the complex, almost foolproof system of traffic and safety control.

The Edmonton centre is the only full-dress airways traffic control centre in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Taken over by the R.C.A.F. a few months ago from the Department of Transport, its methods are based on standard airways practice which is virtually the same throughout Canada and the United States, so that any professional transport pilot accustomed to flying regular airways can bring his aircraft without difficulty into Edmonton or any of the other airports controlled by the centre.

Inside the centre, the big flight progress board almost fills one side of the room. In front of it stands the duty controller, a telephone in his hand and a small switchboard within easy reach, through which he can get an immediate direct line to any one of a number of radio stations operated by the R.C.A.F., the Department of Transport, the United States Army and each of the civilian airline companies; these stations, in turn, are in constant communication with aircraft flying over the territory.

Every aircraft, flying for any purpose whatsoever, gets a "clearance" to use the airway before it enters the vast area controlled by the Edmonton centre. From that moment on a report on its movements reaches the centre from the radio range stations over which it travels.

Estimated times of reaching the next reporting point are included in every report. And if there is no report from the next radio station along the route within a short while after that report was due, the centre gets busy and checks up.
For instance, a civilian pilot took off from a small airfield in Northern Alberta the other day. He had a clearance from Edmonton to fly to one of the main airfields on the north leg of the North West Staging Route. The weather was clear, and the forecast was good, so he anticipated no difficulties. But half-way he ran into a storm, and, unthinkingly, landed at an emergency landing strip without using his radio to advise the ground staff what he had done.

The Edmonton centre promptly was informed that he had failed to arrive at his destination. As the minutes

Report Given at Battle Heights A.F.U.

The regular meeting of the Battle Heights A.F.U. took place at Roseberry School on the evening of Aug. 9th, with twenty-eight members present and a number of visitors.

After the meeting was called to order and routine business disposed of the two delegates to the Vermilion convention gave their reports.
Mr. Howard Oldham gave a graphic account of the convention as a whole, stressing important points, while Mr. N. Willerton dealt with a number of interesting subjects which should be helpful to the members and especially the secretaries in carrying on the work of the organization.
Both gentlemen were given considerable applause for their successful work as delegates.

The ladies then served coffee and sandwiches and a pleasant evening came to a close.

CONTROL

Price control is probably the most widely recognised of the many controls making up Canada's comprehensive stabilization program. Although there has been criticism of some parts of the price control policy there can be no doubt of its overall effectiveness.

Since the price ceiling came into effect the cost of living has been kept definitely within bounds. The total Canadian cost-of-living index has increased only about 3% since December, 1941. The cost of food has gone up 8%, clothing less than 2%, rents less than 1%, and the cost of fuel and lighting has remained unchanged since that time.

Despite the fact that many of the price control measures appear complicated to the uninitiated, the basic policy has been simple. Prices of most goods and services were frozen at the level prevailing during the "basic period" in 1941, or at levels established by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as equivalent.

The chief difficulty in maintaining the price ceiling has been the impossibility of preventing increased costs in many cases. Increased costs come about in a variety of ways, some of them completely unavoidable. There are increased costs of imported materials, or the necessity of substituting more expensive materials for those no longer available. There are also increased costs for transportation in wartime.

The problem has been to prevent these increases from reaching the consumer in the form of increased prices.
 Several devices are used to solve this problem. The first method is to have the producer and the distributor share the "squeeze". Great credit is due the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of the country for the manner in which they have assumed some of the burden of these increased costs.

The second method of combatting increased costs is by means of the program of simplification that was instituted by the WPTB. Elimination of many of the unnecessary frills from many lines of goods made manufacturing costs less.

The various simplification measures have been designed so that they can be accomplished with the minimum amount of difficulty to the manufacturer.

When these two methods are not sufficient, or are not applicable in particular cases, a third alternative has been used. This is the suspension of customs duties and import taxes on some materials. The amount lost to the Treasury has been more than compensated for by the lower costs allowed under this method.

Only as a last resort has a policy of subsidy payments been introduced.
 Subsidies have to be paid for eventually by the consumer from taxes, but their merit is that they prevent price increases which would in turn lead to price increases in other products, and so in the long run cost much more. Subsidies have been used mostly for imports, or for farm products.

These are the measures of proven value. But they are only the machinery of price control. The substance of price control is the support the policy has been given by every Canadian.
 This support must continue successfully. The cost of living can be kept down if every Canadian remembers the specific tasks charged to the individual—to eliminate all unnecessary spending, to buy and sell only at legal prices, and not to press claims for higher profits because of wartime conditions.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially
 for the weekly newspaper of Canada

Speaking in the House of Commons on the bill to establish a federal Department of Reconstruction, Prime Minister King stated there should be no difficulty in securing money for reconstruction purposes. Having raised money during the war by loans and taxation to destroy lives and property his opinion was that: "When the whole picture is reversed, and it comes to the matter of carrying out constructive work, for the rebuilding of communities, for the supplying of homes necessities and luxuries of life there is going to be a demand for employment the like of which could not arise at any other time." Greatest planning, he thought, was for the period following transition when full employment would be very necessary.

The men and women returning from war will bring back a great resurgence of things spiritual, which should stand Canada in good stead at a critical time. It is so implied in many of the stories coming from battlefronts. Here is an example in a little paragraph from a story concerning the adventure of a famous Canadian discoverer which took part in the invasion.
 "There were shell splashes in our vicinity; we saw craft hit, saw them burning, saw them sink... but you understood later; the fleeting look that passed over men's faces as the ship's radio, tuned to invasion news, suddenly interrupted its program to say: "And now let us stop a moment to pray for the success of the Allied invasion forces, and the men in it."

There was a decided drop in the volume of sales of farm implements and equipment in 1943, reflecting government restrictions on manufacture and sale. Domestic sales mainly at wholesale prices totalled $29,796,560 against $50,461,523 in 1942. A drop of 41%. Here are the figures by regions with 1942 sales in brackets. Maritime Provinces
 $1,088,830 ($1,610,056); Quebec
 $3,133,424 ($4,532,984); Ontario
 $7,359,877 ($13,672,486); Manitoba
 $3,446,587 ($6,548,306); Saskatchewan $7,643,580 ($12,523,366);
 Alberta $6,357,970 ($10,338,469);
 British Columbia $766,292 ($1,235, 857).

Here was a tough nut for the Consumer Branch.

For many weeks there has been no end of discussion on the question of who should get the sugar coupons (canning) of the school teacher who is boarding in the community, shortly leaving on holidays. The director at Ottawa says she has no authority to rule one way or the other. If the teacher is leaving her boarding house to go home for the summer, she should make arrangements to let her landlady have some of her canning sugar coupons. Otherwise she would not be entitled to any of the preserves which would undoubtedly be served her next winter.
 There is certainly a fair solution to the problem and it's up to the individual concerned to find it.

Among the many boons which will be the lot of civilians after this war is over, is a new insecticide popularly known as DDT. It is now used over all the world by fighting forces as well as in recently liberated countries to counteract the effects of lice, which spread typhus. A 5% solution of DDT in kerosene, sprayed on walls of barns, stables, etc., is an effective fly killer good for several weeks at a stretch. It is fatal to mosquitoes in minute preparations.

Signs of inflation developed in 1944, before wage and price control was introduced. In the six months preceding, prices were rising three times as fast as in the earlier part of the war. This is a significant fact many have not known. If the cost of living had been allowed to rise unchecked, living standards would certainly have been progressively reduced. You know, industry and agriculture have undergone tremendous changes in the war years. Food production skyrocketed from 40 to 50%. About a million persons have been added to the labour forces. More than 750,000 went into the armed forces. War expenditures last year purchased more goods and services than Canada produced altogether in 1939.

Canada's pension bill in respect to this war will be enormous. The Minister of Pensions said in the House of Commons that pensions costing $6,975,000 a year were being paid to 13,215 veterans of the present war at April 30. A federal department of Veterans' Affairs is being set up.

The increasing production of soy bean in this country draws attention to the fact that the oil derived therefrom is used largely for edible purposes. The latest estimate of use by the Department of Agriculture indicates that about 90% of the product goes into foods, including shortening, salad oils and salad dressings. The oil cake and oil cake meal, by-products of oil production are high protein feeds for livestock and are greatly in demand.

Have you wondered why an officer is not required to wear on his sleeve the familiar red on black "G.
 S." badge worn by other ranks who have volunteered for service anywhere. That is because an officer of the Canadian Active Army must be a volunteer for service anywhere before he can be appointed.

BILL PROVIDES FLOOR FOR FARM PRICES

Three bills to aid agriculture and other primary industries advanced through various stages under government sponsorship. One of the most far-reaching of these is the Agricultural Prices Support Act, designed to ensure minimum prices for all farm products at a level which will give a good return to producers.

Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, told Parliament that a study will be made of wartime ceiling prices on farm products with a view to remedying any injustices.
 But the main purpose of the bill is to put a floor under prices of agricultural products and prevent the slump and hardships which occurred after the last war. The bill sets up an Agricultural Prices Support Board which, under government direction, will pay to producers the difference between the floor price and the average price of farm products when the latter falls below the minimum to be established.

The Fisheries Prices Support Act is a similar measure to guarantee fair prices to Canadian fishermen.
 Though these two measures will benefit agriculture and the fishing industry directly, they are part of the comprehensive post-war economic program of the government to maintain a high standard of living for all classes and occupations. Increased income to farmers and fishermen, just as financial aid to big families with small earnings, will provide greater purchasing power to maintain prosperity in all Canadian business and industrial activity.

Government creates Export corporation

Another measure of great significance to farmers and those in primary industries is the bill to establish an Export Credit Insurance Corporation. This will enable, at the outset, loans or guarantees of $300,000,000 to help finance purchases by other nations of Canadian produce and goods. It is expected that under this plan, huge quantities of food and other Canadian products will be bought by countries badly needing these things after the war but unable to pay for them in cash. This is regarded as one of the widest measures ever enacted to encourage Canada's export trade upon which farming and other primary industries greatly depend. It is coupled with the constant effort of the government to secure lower tariffs throughout the world as part of a comprehensive program to encourage Canadian sales abroad after the war.

WINTER HOUSING OF LAYING PULLETS

Three main principles are desirable for the permanent winter housing of laying pullets: (1) a concrete floor (2) at least a quarter of the south wall glass and a quarter cotton, and (3) a straw loft above a slatted ceiling. For prairie conditions, the walls of the house should be insulated or so constructed or banked with straw that the building is practically wind-proof, particularly on the north and west, says E. Van Nise of the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Saskatchewan.

A concrete floor is desirable for sanitary reasons as it can be washed and disinfected more satisfactorily than a wood or earth floor. If a liberal quantity of chaffy litter is used and changed as necessary to keep dry, the concrete floor is satisfactory even for winter conditions.

Glass is important to admit sunlight and heat. Many houses are too dark for winter conditions, and shorten the day for the laying stock. Special glass to admit vitamin D from the sun is not needed now as this vitamin is in the fish oil used in the feed.

Cotton provides ventilation without draft in windy weather, and in mild weather some of the cotton may be opened during the day by having the frames hinged at the top to permit their opening to the ceiling. By this means, additional sunshine and heat is admitted and ventilation is improved.

Slatted ceiling and a straw loft take care of much of the moisture in the air and help to prevent the collection of frost on the walls. The birds will continue laying normally during reasonably cold weather if the house can be kept from becoming too moist. A damp, frosty house indicates inadequate ventilation of both.

At the Scott Station some experimental work has been done in the ventilation of a laying house 20 feet wide and 36 feet long, but to date the houses 16 feet wide have been easier to keep dry in severe winter weather.

HARVESTING MALTING BARLEY

Most of the barley grown on the prairies is used for feed. Some farmers, however, try to grow barley for malting purposes which, if acceptable commands a price premium.

Provided one of the varieties suitable for malting has been grown, then special care must be used in the harvesting and threshing if the barley grain is to be acceptable to the maltster. In short, to earn the extra premium for malting barley extra work must be put into its production. First the crop must be permitted to mature thoroughly before cutting, yet must not be over-ripe. Because bright colour is important, stocks should be capped and the caps discarded and threshed separately for feed at threshing time. Great care must be exercised in threshing malting barley; the germination of the kernel (an important matter to the maltster) is easily damaged if the grain is threshed too close. Fewer concaves are usually needed for barley than for wheat, sometimes indeed wooden concaves have to be used. Better to thresh so that a slight awn is present on the kernel than to thresh too close.

From all this it will be observed that it is easier to produce good malting barley with the binder and the threshing machine, than it is with the combine even with swathing.

THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS
India has imported over 400,000 tons of food grains, mostly wheat, since last October. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that European wheat production may be slightly below last year's crop, and below average. Crops in south-western Australia are threatened with serious damage unless rain is received soon.

Russia is hoping to harvest a wheat crop which will be sufficient to support the entire population during the new crop season, reports Broomhall. Bulgaria is again permitting the sale of white flour. Sweden has increased the weekly bread ration, and has also increased the proportion of wheat in the bread.

Fall Planting of Perennials

The perennial flower border offers many opportunities and advantages in home beautification which cannot easily be equalled by other plant arrangements. Once established the annual cost of upkeep and material is very low, as the plants will continue for years to give an increasing show of excellent bloom. This is a feature which is now of particular importance due to war shortages of materials and labor, says E. T. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alberta.

Many of the most satisfactory perennials for the prairies succeed best when planted in the fall, particularly bulbous or fleshy rooted types. Peonies, iris, tulips, bleeding-heart, lilacs, columbine and phlox are among the best suited perennials for the prairies. All should be planted in the fall or late summer.

Divide and plant peony roots in September, making certain that each root has one or two more buds, and that the buds are not covered with more than two inches of soil. Deep planting is often the cause of failure to bloom in peonies. Some of the finest varieties are: white, Festiva Maxima and Marie Lemoine; red, Felix Crouse and Karl Rosenfeld; pink, Sarah Bernhardt and Monsieur Jules Elie.

Perennial phlox, bleeding-heart, day-lilies, and a number of the hardy bulbous lilies are also best when planted or divided around the middle to the end of September. Iris may be planted in the fall or spring but the best time is shortly after the blooming season is over in July or early August. At this time the plants are dormant and go into a period of renewed growth a short time later. Iris rhizomes should be planted close to the surface; a covering of one inch or less is all that is required. Dwarf iris, garden or bearded, Siberian iris, in variety, are hardy and well suited to the prairies.

Tulips may be replanted yearly or every two to four years. Any time during the summer or fall, after the foliage has dried off, is suitable for the replanting of tulips. Bulbs should be planted 4 - 6 inches deep and 5-8 inches apart.

Lilies prefer a sandy loam, rich in organic matter, and will not thrive on heavy soils. Such soils can be made suitable by mixing with coarse sand or by placing a layer of sand just under the bulbs at planting time. Bulbs may be obtained in September or in early spring, and should be

URGE BLOOD TESTS

TO HALT SYPHILIS

OTTAWA - Encouragement of blood testing as a protective measure against syphilis was recommended by delegates attending a national conference last week of venereal disease control officials of the Dominion, provinces and armed forces.

"The protection of the family group—wife, children and breadwinner—must be our constant aim," said Maj. J. A. Leroux, Ontario director of venereal disease control. "Premarital, prenatal and pre-employment blood testing can assist greatly in achieving this goal."

Rehabilitation as well as treatment of the "border-line" girl was advocated by Dr. Dorothy Saxton, Vancouver. She urged establishment of rapid treatment centres along lines found effective in the United States. In one centre which she had visited, Dr. Saxton said she found a program of special training being given to girls while under treatment.

The public would support realistic action in cleaning up unsavory community conditions, said Lt.-Col. D. H. Williams, chief of the venereal disease control division, department of EVER walk into an auction and find yourself getting excited and wanting to bid... a victim of "auction fever"? Wartime conditions can breed "auction fever" if we let them. Everything is in short supply. Many more people are able to bid.

But... if prices are bid up... all our dollars will lose some of their value. Even necessities could get out of reach.

What use is more money, if living costs go up still higher.

What good are higher returns to business, if they are offset by higher costs.

What does the farmer gain if higher farm prices lead to depression and low prices later.

We cannot continue a full war effort and prepare to meet the problems of the post-war period unless we maintain a stable and reasonable price level now.

WARTIME BEAUTY

Time and effort you give to a well-groomed appearance, ladies, spells "m-o-r-e-l-e" his and yours. The special man in your life, whether here or over there, wishes to think of you as dainty and lovely.

You, in turn, may be working on the home front—turning out airplanes or ships, harvesting crops, tending a victory garden, doing unaccustomed housework. "I'm tired. I can't get a beauty shop appointment. Does it matter how I look?" you think.

"Yes!" It matters. Your hand-power is winning the war. Your loveliness is helping him.

Care for Hands

Take those hands. Put them down for first attention on your "beauty musta" list. Get a weekly manicure, if you can, or give yourself one. More important, give your hands daily care. To keep them presentable, follow these rules.

Wear gloves when you can, while working.

Each day after work, wash hands with a soap that cuts grease. Use a good brush.

Keep a Lemon Handy

After washing each time, rub hands with a cut lemon. If you are not already familiar with this home beauty aid, now's the time to learn its many uses. Lemon juice removes stains, whitens and softens the skin and bleaches the nails.

A half lemon may be kept in a saucer, cut side down, near wash basin or sink. Thrust your fingers into the lemon and rub them well. The lemon juice cleans the nails so that they take a better polish.

Use Cold Cream

After cleansing with lemon, cold cream or hand lotion may be applied. Do this when skin is dry or chapped. Apply cream or lotion again before going to bed. If hands are stained, rub with lemon juice and let this stay on hands over night.

Make Your Own Hand Lotion

You can make an excellent and economical hand lotion at home—again using the cosmetic qualities of the lemon. Combine two parts strained fresh lemon juice, one part glycerine and one part rubbing alcohol. This lotion used after washing, will soften and whiten the skin of hands and arms.

Rinse Hair with Lemon

Hair needs special care when you work where there is dust and grease. Another helpful lemon aid to the war worker's good grooming is a lemon rinse following a shampoo.

For this add the strained juice of two lemons to a bowl of warm water. Shampoo hair thoroughly, using several "sudsings." Rinse in clear water and then with the lemon water. The lemon juice cuts the filmy soap curd left by the shampoo and leaves the hair shiny clean. It brings out the full luster and beauty of the hair whether light or dark.

Poultry Meals Popular

There was a time when recipes for roast chicken, turkey and a savory stuffing appeared almost entirely around Thanksgiving and Christmas. Not today, however. The no-point, low-point program is operating at home with real patriots, just as heartily as the war is being carried on by our boys.

Poultry dishes are every-week dishes. New stuffings, especially nutritious stuffings are eagerly sought. So we pass along the following recipe as our Star for the month:

Bran Flakes Stuffing

1/3 cup minced onion
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/4 teaspoon sage
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 1/2 cups 40% bran flakes
2 cups soft bread crumbs
to 12 tablespoons hot water
Sauté onion in butter 3 minutes. Add parsley and seasonings and combine with bran flakes and bread crumbs. Mix well. Add water and toss together lightly with a fork until thoroughly mixed. Makes enough stuffing for a 5-pound fowl.

IT'S THE BERRIES

Blueberries, raspberries, blackberries! Capture the full glory of Summer for your table, by serving berries in lots of ways and often. The season's short, so don't miss a single chance to use these luscious fruits—in puddings, ice-creams, and most any other dessert.

Raspberry Bavarian Cream

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup milk
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup plain cream
2 egg whites
1 cup red raspberries
Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine egg yolks, sugar, and salt. Scald milk in top of double boiler and add gradually to the egg mixture. Return to double boiler and stir until of standard consistency. Remove from heat, add gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Cool. Add cream. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, then beat with a rotary egg beater until frothy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and berries. Turn into individual molds that have been rinsed out in cold water first, and chill until firm. When ready to serve unmold on dessert plates and serve with plain cream or a custard sauce, if desired. Serves 6.

Vanilla Ice Cream with Berries

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 pint milk
2 eggs, separated
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 pint light cream
Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine milk, egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, and salt in top of double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg beater until ingredients are well-blended. Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. Add vanilla and cream. Turn mixture into refrigerator tray and freeze firm. Remove mixture to chilled bowl, beat smoothly, and fold in egg whites beaten stiff. To which remaining sugar has been added. Return to tray and finish freezing. Ice Cream will have smooth or texture if stirred two more times during the freezing process. When ready to serve, heap into sherbet glasses and top with a berry sauce.

Veteran Rehabilitation Calls For Tolerance and Planning

Toronto—"Rehabilitation of the ex-serviceman goes far beyond provision of federal aid and will involve careful planning and great tolerance on the part of many," Stanley E. Caldwell, director of the industrial division, Health League of Canada, states in the League's August bulletin to industry.

In an article entitled, "When Johnny Comes Back to Work," Mr. Caldwell states that rehabilitation of the ex-serviceman is a problem of personal adjustment which calls for sympathetic guidance, and, in many cases, vast tolerance on the part of relatives, friends, employers and co-workers.

Employers and co-workers especially will have an important responsibility, according to the author. "The school boys of 1940, if they do not resume their studies, will go job-seeking with characters forged in the heat of battle."

Mr. Caldwell quotes a personnel manager who states, "Many of these lads are different from those who mature under the influence of civilian life. Some of them are torn between a need for discipline, and a resentment of it. Others have enthusiasm and bold courage—a flair for taking a chance—which is diluted by an intense yearning for security."

The Johnny who left his job for the controls of a plane or the sights of a gun is apt to be a quite different person after two, three or four years in the services," Mr. Caldwell continues. "Some of these veterans will be sick physically or mentally."

The medical director of a group of Ontario plants is quoted as saying: "They last a month or so on the job and then want something different. I think that we should plan very carefully in connection with the rehabilitation of workers who come back from the services."

A lot of guidance and co-operative effort between management and supervisor and medical department will be required.

"The hesitancy of some managements to hire physically or mentally handicapped personnel on the grounds that they are more susceptible to injury or otherwise constitute a compensation liability is regrettable and fallacious," Mr. Caldwell declares. Careful studies of factual data show that the physically handicapped workers are just as valuable, and often more valuable than the able-bodied.

Mr. Caldwell cites the case of a soldier who returned to civil life with an artificial foot, the result of having walked into an Italian stable that had been mined. Today the veteran works skillfully at hand-rearing and burring operations.

"Blind persons and even those subject to epileptic fits are working efficiently in some factories."

"All the problems of rehabilitation will not be industrial," Mr. Caldwell says, urging factory health programs which depend on medical-industrial teamwork for the supervision of general health.

"Make no mistake about it: Johnny and his ex-service pals are going to respect the employer who plays on the team."

WE'LL DO IT AGAIN—
but we need YOUR HELP!

Yes, we need your help...and need it badly.

This is the biggest job we have ever tackled! Everything depends upon Victory.

Canada's Army needs volunteers NOW. And, that means you and you and you!

Wear Canada's Badge of Honour on your arm. You'll be proud of it, so will your friends.

Every man who is able has got to do his bit!

Maybe you don't think this means you... that it's a job for the other fellow.

If you do, you're wrong. It's your war, too... a war for every man who is a man... for everyone who has a stake in Canada.

Yes, this means you all right and we need you now for the months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit. We did it before and we can do it again... but we need your help.

"HAND MILKING"
IS ON THE WAY OUT, TOO!

The Modern Milking Machine has won the favor of Dairymen

Freedom from the time-taking, tiring and tiresome chore of hand milking has come to thousands of dairymen through the perfection of the modern milking machine.

The milking machine saves hours of time and labor, making easier and quicker work of a task that has long been considered as "taking a lot of the joy out of life." In these times of help shortage, it has been the milking machine that has enabled many a dairyman to keep the monthly cheques for milk and cream coming in as usual and to benefit from the great demand for dairy products.

To users of milking machines, doing the job by hand is a thing of the past—to them hand-milking belongs to the days when grain was sown broadcast by hand and crops were harvested with the sickle and the cradle.

• Your local Massey-Harris dealer can give you particulars about the Rite-Way, the modern milker with the natural action.
